

PRIVACY RULES CYBERSECURITY PARTNERSHIP PROGRAM (CPP)

THE PROGRAM

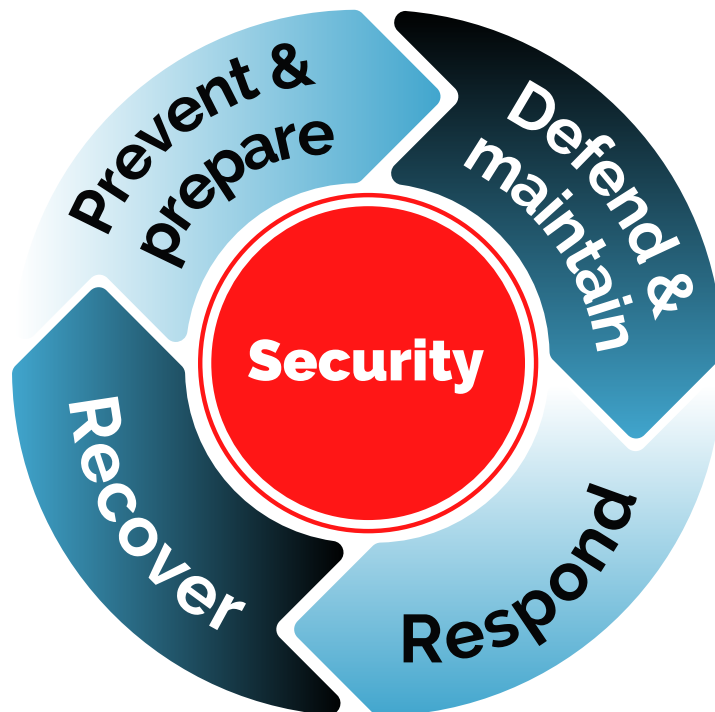

The increasing complexity of data privacy matters calls for unconventional approaches. No single entity possesses all the answers. PrivacyRules leverages a global network of trusted member firms specialised in data privacy law, cybersecurity and strategic communication.

These days cybersecurity is essential for any kind of business. One-fits-all solutions cannot guarantee data safety and resorting to effective but expensive third-party permanent security operation centers or sophisticated infrastructural transitions might not be a viable option for many. This is why PrivacyRules developed its innovative and integrated cybersecurity approach - to allow companies flexibility and freedom of choice, while being equipped to face current threats and prepared for what comes next.

Our Cybersecurity Partnership Program offers a tailor-made cybersecurity process, allowing companies the freedom of selecting and traveling their own path within the constellation of services offered by our trusted professionals.

Our approach emphasizes prevention and defence as key components to thwart crisis, while at the same time providing the full range of emergency response services and means to structurally recover from a data breach.

THE PROCESS

MEET AN EXPERT for a free pre-assessment of your case. This allows us to compile a tailor-made offer with the most relevant services and solutions of our CPP members.

ABOUT PRIVACYRULES

PrivacyRules was formed in 2017 by a group of legal and tech experts across Europe and America (<https://www.privacyrules.com/>) to address the growing demand for data protection and cybersecurity services. Launched in 2018, PrivacyRules has become the world's leading professional alliance of data privacy experts providing holistic and multifaceted advice through the interaction of three pillars: legal, cybersecurity and cyber-related communications.

The alliance was formed to deliver integrated and effective assistance and services to multinational companies and institutions. In just three years, PrivacyRules has grown dramatically, and our network of legal experts now covers 57 jurisdictions worldwide. A number of tech and communications companies have also recently joined PrivacyRules. With our networked expertise we can provide services to governments, associations, SME and multinational companies.

We offer implementable, holistic data privacy solutions on all continents.

Who are PrivacyRules legal experts? They are select top privacy experts representing leading law firms from 57 countries who often chair robust privacy and TMT teams in respective firms. Jointly we can provide excellent legal advice on privacy and related legal practices – and beyond.

PrivacyRules law firm members are recruited according to five main criteria: excellency in data protection and associated legal practices; ranking of firms in own jurisdiction; experience in working on matters of international relevance; quality & efficiency in serving multinational clients; reputation before their national public institutions and business communities. Cybersecurity members are selected based on the proven strength & innovation of their products, services national SMEs combining multi- and solutions.
